

Allocation of Online Donations

By submitting a donation on this site you agree to the following terms:

Certain donations can be set aside towards the efforts to establish a Professor Know-How Lab at a qualifying school. The school can be a public, charter or private school. Our program is designed for middle and junior high school students of the 6th, 7th & 8th grades. When you make a donation, it is made to TLC and not to a specific school. Funding is just one of many factors considered when establishing a program. There are no guarantees or promises that an actual program will be established at the school you select. Donations are not refundable.

Contributions of $100 or more are eligible. 50% of the donation is set aside for the qualifying school you select and the remaining 50% is used to help fund programs and provide funding to establish Professor Know-How Labs in our sister school program and other administrative costs.

Generally speaking, we expect members of the local community to provide the grassroots fundraising effort necessary to establish a lab. We also expect the community to organize a committee to help TLC assemble the volunteers required to administer the program and to appoint a member of the committee to act as a liaison to their local school administration.

At the very minimum, we require a trial program to be approved in writing by the school district and 50% of the funds raised within the first 6 months of the campaign. The campaign must be completed and the resources secured within one year. Mitigating circumstance will be considered by the governing board in allowing extensions. Decisions by the board are not subject to arbitration and are final. Donations set aside will be moved to TLC's general fund.

If the school you select hasn't signed up yet or doesn't have an active campaign in progress, your donation will go into the general fund. We will notify you by email that the school you selected hasn't signed up yet or doesn't have an active campaign in progress. We will include information on how to start a campaign.

TLC reserves the exclusive right to close a campaign for any reason and at any time it sees fit.
